

tpgroup is a growing global professional services and technology partner with a unique end-to-end approach in defence, energy and space programmes.

The Role

We are looking for an energetic and experienced Marketing Project Lead to join our Marketing and Communications team, this role will mainly be home based, but will require visits to our offices across the UK. This is a fantastic opportunity to be part of a forward thinking team who are working on sharing innovative solutions or manufacturing bespoke engineering systems.

This position sits within our UK function supporting the Consultancy, Bespoke Engineering Solutions and Digitalisation elements of our business.

Within this Marketing Project Lead role you will be focussed on the creation of imaginative and compelling marketing material aligned to the company strategy and priorities. Your projects will range from the development of video and webinar material through to exhibition stands, or managing product launches. You will be expected to assist in the implementation and championing of brand guidelines.

About You

As the right applicant for this role you will be someone who is working in a Marketing and Communications team where you will be getting involved across the whole spectrum of projects. You will have extensive experience in creating internal communication updates, getting involved in creating external campaigns on social media, or arranging events and attending exhibitions. You will need to be someone who has experience of leading a project, and influencing those around you to ensure it is delivered, with proven experience in challenging business leaders and external suppliers alike. You will have ideally worked with in engineering or a consultancy business environment previously.

What you will get in return is the opportunity to join an organisation that is growing, and would like to assist you in developing your career with us. We are developing industry leading technology solutions and services in the defence, space and renewable energy sectors and would like to provide you with the opportunity to evolve with us. We will support you in expanding your skills and capabilities with the assistance of a fantastic team around you. Also, we will offer a highly competitive salary and benefits package.

To apply for this role, please send a CV and a covering letter detailing your current salary, and benefits package to hr@tpgroup.uk.com.