

Martina Aste
Sapienza Consulting, the Netherlands

Hi, I am Martina Aste I am originally from Italy and I moved to the Netherlands at the end of 2019. I have a Master degree in Aerospace Engineering and a Master in Business Administration both from the University of Bologna. I worked in Automotive and Household appliances industries and more recently in the Aerospace sector mainly in Procurement departments.

I am currently working at Sapienza Consulting as Programme / Project Controller at European Space Agency in Noordwijk in the Directorate of Human and Robotic Exploration. I am supporting the Technical Officer in the Manpower Contracts recruitment process and I am working in the Fixed Assets Management.

What I like more about my job is that I constantly learn new things about the Space projects ESA has on going and the future ones. It is still quite strange for me to think that on my daily activity I am talking about projects that are on the International Space Station, experiments that will be launch and it is really exiting to think, also if in really limited way I am contributing to Explore Mars and to have an European on the Moon - maybe a Woman!
